“A BREATHTAKING VISTA”

This year we will again have the choice of two routes, one departing from the West starting at Chester and the other from the East starting at York, collecting passengers on route. Both routes lead us along the celebrated and world-famous stretch of line - Settle to Carlisle.

First opening to passengers in 1876, the Settle-Carlisle line takes in 20 viaducts, 14 tunnels and countless beautiful vistas along its 72 mile track. This historic line travels across the stunning Pennine hills, showcasing the English countryside at its best.

SETTLE STATION

The station first opened in May 1876 and was originally named ‘Settle New’ to distinguish it from the nearby station on a different route, and has a beautiful large Derby Gothic style station building.

RIBBLEHEAD VIADUCT

The Ribblehead Viaduct is an impressive feat of engineering 28 miles north-west of Skipton in Yorkshire. The Grade II listed structure, designed by engineer John Sydney Crossley. 1.5 million bricks were used in its construction, with some of the blocks weighing 8 tons each.

DENT STATION

The highest mainline railway station in England. In the past steam locomotives were able to pick up water from troughs here whilst still moving.

DENT HEAD & ARTEN GILL VIADUCTS

Two of the most impressive structures on the line, they are Scheduled Ancient Monuments. Arten Gill Viaduct is constructed from ‘Dent marble’ – a dark limestone with high fossil content, and has eleven impressive arches.

BLEA MOOR TUNNEL

Located between Ribblehead Viaduct and Dent station, it is the longest tunnel on the line. Rise Hill Tunnel. Built by the Midland Railway, it passes 500 feet below the moor after which it was named.

CARLISLE

The Scotland/England border city, the Romans established a settlement here to service the forts of Hadrian’s Wall. Carlisle castle has watched over the city for more than 9 centuries, and has witnessed many important moments in British history.

Along the Settle to Carlisle railway, picking up across Yorkshire

West Coast Railways are delighted once again to announce one of our favourite steam train day trips - The Dalesman, departing from many Yorkshire and Lancashire stations before travelling along the famous and breathtaking Settle to Carlisle railway.

From the comfort of your seat in some of the oldest working carriages in operation today, your adventure begins! Some of these carriages date back to the 1920s and served throughout the golden age of rail and some featured in the Harry Potter movies and have all been lovingly restored. These traditional carriages will be hauled by diesel for the first part of the journey, then from Hellifield the steam engine pulls the train across the Settle to Carlisle, England's most scenic railway.

The train stops in the historic border city of Carlisle in Cumbria for a break of around 2 hours. Stroll between the castle and Cathedral or perhaps visit the famous Tullie House Museum – you will be surrounded by great places to shop, eat or be entertained, the perfect way to spend an afternoon.
